The US travel association predicts that Americans leave 429 million days of paid fans not used every year. Some people exclude the trip because they are stressed to leave work back. Others abandon a pause because they feel that they are not in your budget. But unfortunately, there is a way to solve these two problems. If you know where to look for, dozens of programs around the world connect travelers with opportunities to work while traveling. Payment comes in the form of money or in accommodations, but anyway, is a friendly way to the budget to see the world. If traveling is something you've always wanted to do, there is no reason why it can not be a reality. Read these stories of real people who have found a way to finance their travels working on the road. Teach English Johnson, 30, liked his HR employment in Nebraska, but she could not shake the annoying desire to travel abroad. In 2011, she saw himself on a website called ESL Café, a resource for people who look to teach English around the world. After posting his curriculum, he did not take long for the offerings to start rolling the first outy of Jelhson in teaching English abroad led her to Hangzhou, China, where she spent 18 months of teaching. While she had to pay for the vain there, the program reigned it at the cost after six months. Your payment (about $ 1,200 per month) was considerably less than the salary she did in her US work, but her housing costs were covered, so Johnson was able to live comfortably while still having enough money To explore the city and dive into a new culture. Á à € "The teaching ticket is what left me access to the rest of the world Á à € " said Johnson to Yahoo Finance. "You do not have an excuse not to see the world, unless you are not only interested. Although Johnson has been certified in teaching English as second tongue, It is a requirement for English education abroad. Á à € " Á à € † certifications give you better payment and more options, but for so many countries you only have to be a native English speaker. "She said. After taking a month for backpack around the southeast of Sia, Johnson put his eyes on another teaching opportunity in Saudi Arabia. "I went to the adventure, and wanted to be in a place drastically different from where I had just been." The program in Saudi Arabia paid for its vain to the capital of Riyadh, its dwelling and transportation and for local markets. She would teach for four to five hours a day at Princess Nora University, and spent the rest of the time exploring the city. "I was doing more than $ 3,400 per month, and without expenses, was able to save a lot of money. With these economies, Johnson traveled to Quania, Germany, England and Italy during the Ruptures of the school. With his wanderlust in full swing, she continued to travel, and completed her goal to visit all 7 continents 30. Á à € "After traveling, many employers saw my new life experiences as BÄ'NUS Á à € "She said. Á à € " Á à € © Everything on how it markets. The work for the powers of Keekkevin arrived Lima, Peru in 2014, in the hope of finding a place to teach English as he did in China. But he did not find the right fit.At his hostel, sound the other travelers told him about a website called Wakaway, which corresponds to travelers who seek to be voluntarily in other hospites with hostesses that provide them with food and accommodations. He enrolled that day.Poters, 32, ventured into Huanchaco, Peru and spent four months working and living in a hostel. In addition to checking on travelers, it would work in the restaurant - even learning how to make Peruvian food. "I worked 5-7 hours, five days a week, and in return I had a place to stay, food for coma, and there were A surfboard and diving clothes that I could use, he told Yahoo Finance. Á à € Á à € "My free time I could travel and visit other places such as Machu Picchu. Á à € Á à € "If you wait until you have money, you will never go, Á à € --" he said.Exchange SkillsIn 2011, Andrew Dawson was 29 years old, among jobs and burns. Á à € Á à € "I felt insignificant and physically and emotionally exhausted. I needed a real trip to Á à € " he said. Friend was going to Senegal to visit the family, then Dawson, who lived in New York, scored, thinking he gone for 3 weeks. He ended up staying in the Western Africa for 6 months. Initially, Dawson stayed with his friend's mother, who performed a small operation of B & B. But after her friend left, Dawson used his story in advertising and brand strategy to discover an arrangement With her. "She did not really want to charge me for staying with her, then instead of money, I sat down and went through her books her Á à €," he said. "I've done all the math and told her what to charge to make money. We've created a business plan. As Dawson made new friends and traveled around Senegal, he used his business. business to attack money saving arrangements. He took lessons at the local surfing school and quickly made friends with the instructors. Soon he was helping them with chances and ends, and in return, they would allow him to use surfboards and diving clothes from grace. Dawson met a motorcycle enthusiastic colleague who gave rides to sites. They became fast friends with Dawson giving the man's advice on his business model in exchange for free motorcycle tours. "I was able to have a good understanding about French and I really immersed in the culture," he said. Á à € Á à € "I helped the owners of local companies to improve their operations, and they helped me navigate a New landscape. Work on the Sabbatically course, Dawson's experience would not be easy for most travelers. You have your shirt, pants, sweater, perhaps long underwear, jacket, gloves, hat or capÁ ' sheet and boots. You put a little clothes to protect you from the cold. What you would have to put to protect you from the outside space. Space suits should provide all comfort and support that earth or spacecraft do, addressing issues such as atmosphere, water and protection against radiation. The space is an extremely hostile place. If you were stepping out of a spacion and it was not a spacesuit, the following things can happen: You could become unconscious within 15 seconds, why not give the Á à € hÁ oxygen.Your blood and body fluids could "boil" and then freeze because there are little or no pressure tissues your air (skin, Á à € coraÁÁ the other internal Á à € rgÁ Á à €) could expand because of the boiling fluids.You could face mudanÁÁas sudden temperature. For example, in sunlight temperatures can reach 248 degrees Fahrenheit (120 degrees C) and fall to -148 F (-100 C) in shade.You vÁrios be exposed to the kinds of Á à € Radiation such as cÁ'smicos rays, the particles can loaded emitted by the sun (solar wind) .VocÁ® could be reached by small partÁculas or rock dust moving at high speeds (micrometeorite) or debris Á à € rbita SATA © lites or spacecraft.So to protegÁ® it does against these dangers, one obrigaÁÁÁ Á à € suit space: Have a pressurized atmosphereGive you oxigÁ®nio and removes carbon dioxideMaintain one confortÁvel temperature despite the Á à € rduo work and movement in and out of areasProtect it micrometeorites illuminated and the Radiation Á à € for some degree.Allow you see clearly, move easily within the space suit and outside the spacecraft, and communicate with others (ground controllers, astronauts colleagues) that Á à € © a great job. In this article, we will examine the problems walk outside space and how space suits sÁ Á à € o made to deal with. When the planes were developed jet, pilots Necessary flight suits pressurized to cope with low hurry Á à € © atmosÁ the rich and the lack of oxigÁ © nio at high altitudes. Most of these facts are only designed to be used Á à € when the pressurized cabin failed. The coated fabric suits consisting of neoprene rubber which could inflate the Á à € as a bullet, and a fabric Á à € gida more of the neoprene suit to contain and direct the internal Á à € rush on the pilot. Hoses were attached to the Avia Á à € the suit to provide Mercury oxygen.When program comeÁou NASA, space suits kept the designs of the early pressurized vÁo costumes, but added layers of aluminized Mylar over the neoprene rubber, the Mercury spacesuit. Tamba © m was laced boots, a helmet that connected by means of a collar ring, and gloves. The process was cooled with an external ventilator apparatus astronaut performed. The astronaut received oxigÁ®nio spacecraft atravÁ © s hoses connected to the suit. Again, the fact was pressurized-Only in the event that the failed.Astronauts Á à € rush the cabin found it difficult to move in when Mercury spacesuit was pressurized; prÁ®prio the fact in the Á à € was designed for the spacewalk. However, when NASA's Gemini program comeÁou, spacesuits had to be conceived in the Á à € just to use emergÁ®ncia, but as well © m to walk in space, so some had to be mudanÁÁas made.To deal with the space environment, the space suit twins had a human form neoprene rubber bladder that was constrained by netting. About bladder suit nylon layers was coated with Teflon to protect the usuÁ®rio Micrometeorite. The probe supplied with the nio and atravÁ oxigÁ © © Á à € s of a lanyard cooling air umbilical (not shown in the picture above). After the Gemini program, astronauts learned that Á à € Cooled with air in the Á à € it worked very well. Often, the astronauts were overheated and exhausted spacewalk; helmets and often sprayed on the inside of excessive moisture. In seÁÁÁ Á à € the following, let's talk about your changes that were made to the space suit design for the Apollo. Apollo.
